Candidate Overview

My wife Dominique and I and our three sons discovered Kiawah in 1982, while living in New Jersey. We fell in love with its natural beauty and tranquility, and have made it a vacation destination every year since. We purchased our West Beach home in 2004; and since our retirements, we divide our time between Kiawah and our home in Atlanta.

Community Involvement

I have been involved in the medical communities where I have practiced, New York City and Atlanta, and served on committees, boards of direction, grant and promotion reviews. Here at Kiawah, my wife and I are members of the Governor's Club and the Kiawah Island Club.

Professional Background

I am a native of Iowa, with a BA from Princeton University, and MD and DMSci degrees from Columbia University. After residency training at the Presbyterian Hospital in NYC, I served in the US Army as a surgeon at Walter Reed Army Medical Center (2 years); and then began a practice of general and endocrine surgery and academic teaching and diabetes research, first at Columbia University's Presbyterian Hospital (12 years), and then at Emory University Hospital and The Emory Clinic in Atlanta (26 years), serving as the Wm. McGarity Professor of Surgery until my retirement in 2018.

Board Service Statement

To us, Kiawah is a unique and very special place. For sure, it has changed in many ways over the last 38 years. But, its world-class beach, its gorgeous flora and fauna, its tasteful amenities, its friendly residents, and its pervasive tone of peaceful co-existence with nature make it, for Dominique and me, a wonderful home.

I would be honored to join the board, and to assist in the oversight, conservation and preservation of this unique island and community.
